How to get here:

From Newport, Usk and the South:

As you approach Usk from the A449, take right turn signed Gwehelog. (Coming through Usk, this is a left turn on the road out towards the A449)

Follow this road for approx 2 miles, through Gwehelog Village and on past 'The Hall' public house. Continue for just under a mile until you come to a junction where the road ahead of you drops down the hill, but where turnings to the left and right remain on the level.

Turn left here, by the bus stop, into the lane signposted 'Trostre'. The lane immediately bends to the left. Continue a further 1/4 mile. Gwehelog chapel is ahead on the Right, just over a small crossroads. Park on the grass verge at the side of the lane.

By rail or bus to Newport

Then local bus service 60 from Newport to Monmouth, which runs hourly during the week, less frequently on Sunday.

The bus stops beside the turning for Trostre. The chapel is a few minutes walk along the lane.
